TRANSPLANTING TEETH.

The Operation Successfully Performed by a Chicago Dentist.

A Chicago dentist has recently transferred a grinder from the mouth of a pretty young lady to the corresponding orifice of a stupid, horrid man of middle age. This man was unwilling to wear a plate to support a single tooth, and the dentist suggested the transplanting of a molar from a living subject. Five weeks afterward there presented herself a young lady whose teeth were to many for her jaw. She could eat better than she could talk. One of her teeth was removed, placed in glycerine and kept at blood heat until the other patient could be summoned; and then it was transferred to his jaw and tied to the adjacent teeth. By the third day the doctor was satisfied, from the lack of inflamation and freedom from pain, that the operation would be successful. On the ninth day the ligatures were removed, and on the fourteenth the tooth was quite firm; from that time out it continued to grow firmer in its attachment to the jaw, until at the end of six weeks it was as useful as its neighbors. In color and size the matching was nearly perfect. The only difference between the transplanted tooth and the original one was in the shape of the roots; that of the latter was single, while the former had a double root, but the socket could hardly have been better fitted.

The Result Surprised Them.

A young physician of Charlotta, N. C., had wagered heavily in a forthcoming fight. In order to give the fowl a little practice, he and a friendly clergyman obtained a big Shanghai rooster, clipped off his spurs and put him in a pen for the other to kill. The Shanghai was informed that he only had about two minutes to live, but he went at the gamecock with surprising confidence and vigor, and at the expiration of two minutes crowed over his dead body. The physician told his sorrow in plain words, but the clergyman expressed his feelings in a sermon on "The Vanity of Human Hopes."

They Died Together.

Robert and Dennis Patterson, brothers at Huntsville, Ga., quarreled over the question of dividing some hogs that had just been killed. An immense kettle, full of very hot water, was at the edge of a platform on which they stood, to be used in scalding the hogs. Robert was a Methodist preacher, but that did not prevent him from getting furiously angry, and he threatened to throw Dennis into the kettle. Dennis challenged him to try, and he did. The two brothers struggled hard, and finally plunged into the water together, receiving scalds that killed them both.

Very Slightly Clothed.

The natives residing in the neighborhood of Monrovia, Liberia, until lately were accustomed to visit the city dressed very much in the style of our first parents. Mayor Leon, a civilized emigrant from the United States, issued a proclamation to the effect that the men should wear breeches and the women gowns to the knees, or they shouldn't attend market. The decree is now observed, but in the rural regions the primitive costume of the fathers of the republic remain in vogue.

Another "Big Six" Flower.

Bill just look at this bundle. Well I should smile, the bundle is bigger than yourself. Ha ha ha, but the best joke of all is, the whole business cost me only $7 38. You see, I have 13 yards of dress goods for $1 56, lining, 30 waist and skirt, 40 cents; thread 5 cents; braid 6 cents; 1 dozen buttons 12½ cents; 4 pairs stockings 50 cents; a shawl for 50 cents; one nice felt skirt 75 cents; 10 yards cotton-flannel for $1; 13 yards bleached cotton-flannel for $1; 4 yards scarlet flannel for $1 and a whole bolt of rushing for 50 cents. Where in thunder did you get it all? At Sol. Levy's. You bet that is the place to buy your goods. dec10

S. N. Davidson does the best work in town. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. To be found two doors west of the postoffice. jun1

Wondering how cheap Sol. Levy sells his goods? Not at all; because he is satisfied with only a small profit. dec10

IS IT GOOD JOURNALISM?

Considerable effort has been made to keep the newspapers from reporting the proceedings in the suit of Lake vs. Lake, now pending before Judge King. With the GAZETTE all the efforts have been unsuccessful. A reporter has been in attendance, with instructions to give a fair, unbiased report of the whole matter. He has made copious notes, and instead of misrepresenting either the plaintiff or defendant in any particular, he has several times softened the language and drawn the sting. The evidence is very naturally distasteful to the defendant, and his sensibilities are much wounded, but the newspaper which publishes a true account of such a matter, is not to blame for the sufferings inflicted, any more than the air which conveys the words of the witnesses to listeners on the benches. It is very painful to read that a friend has fallen into the river and been drowned, but it is the water, and not the newspaper, which inflicts the cruel blow. The defendant, in such a case as this, is at a great disadvantage; the evidence against him is always very pointed, and usually very damaging, and his testimony must necessarily be of a negative character. He may be accused of brutality and cruelty, and the witnesses may particularize and emphasize and make a startling and exciting display on their side, while his only method is the very tame and uninteresting one of disproving the statements. With all this, a newspaper has nothing to do. The people who would attend the sittings of the court if they could, but are not able to do so, look to the papers for a report which they have a perfect right to expect. The GAZETTE simply aims to fill its mission of a faithful public journal, and give the news just as it happens, without fear or favor. The case under consideration not only involves a large sum of money, but there are legal points to be met, which promise to render the case famous, and establish it as a precedent, and to fail to report it, would seem to us to be very bad journalism.

There are 236,559 square miles embraced in the Indian reservations of the United States, and about as many Indians, a square mile to each. This suggests a happy solution of the whole Indian question. Let each Indian be deeply planted in the centre of his square mile. There would still be enough land left to allow of the permanent disposition of all the Indian agents in the same way. Then we should hear no more of the unwillingness of the Indians to remain on the reservations. Every Indian would then have a stake in the country. And each agent would be permanently settled at his post, and would have less disposition to grow suddenly rich.

Every avenue leading to the school houses is wet and muddy after every storm. Twenty-five dollars would put down a good walk from the end of the sidewalk to the school house door, and it ought to be forthcoming at once. It is wrong to allow the little ones to sit all day with wet feet for the lack of a little bit of enterprise.

The Placer Argus has discarded the patent inside and now comes out a handsome seven column weekly, about the size of the daily GAZETTE. H. W. Fulton has made the Argus a name and given it influence in its state.

Deacon Parkinson knows how to make a newspaper as well as any man in the state. He has navigated the Tribune into its fourth column and it improves with each returning birthday.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician retired from practice having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure for Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Ashma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. The Word "Sozodont."

Which has already become a household word, is derived from the Greek, and is composed of two words, Soze and Odontes. "Soze" translated, means to preserve, and "Odontes" the teeth—"SOZODONT" a preserver of the teeth. And it is true to its name. It beautifies and preserves the teeth, hardens and invigorates the gums, and corrects all impurities of the breath. The odor of this pure preparation is so delightful that it is a luxury to apply it. It is as harmless as water. Sold by druggists and perfumers. jan2-e o d-1mo-d&w

HARRY RICHARDSON.

His Body Not Yet Found—What is Known of the Missing Man.

The body of Harry Richardson, who is believed to have drowned himself in the Truckee river, has not been discovered. Since his hat and coat were found on the river bank near Stevenson's farm at Glendale, last Friday evening, search has been made up and down the river, without success. Previous to his disappearance, Richardson had been on a spree for about ten days. At 2 o'clock on Friday morning he went to the bar of the Depot Hotel and asked the night clerk for a drink. Knowing the man's condition, the clerk denied his request, and also refused to loan him money, but offered him toast and coffee. Richardson, however, slipped out without taking anything, and, so far as heard, that was the last seen of him.

N. J. Jaquish, who knew Richardson well, tells a GAZETTE reporter that he looked for him for hours on Friday, but could find no trace of him. The missing man had told him that he formerly lived at Pittsburg, Penn., for ten years or more, and that he was a native of Newcastle, England. Richardson had no family, and had not been in his native place for 16 years. He was about 38 years old. Although he had been living in Reno only since the fire of last March, Richardson was pretty well known. Previous to his last bender he had been sober for nearly two months. His friends think he must have been delirious at the time of his disappearance.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

Mechanics' Union Men Attempt to Kill Tom Clarke, Engineer of the V. & T. Express Train.

An Interview With Clarke on the Train —Full Particulars of the Affair.

About a quarter-past 5 o'clock last evening, in Virginia City, engineer Tom Clarke was murderously assaulted on D street, in front of the Sacramento saloon, near the corner of Union street. He was on his way to the express train, which leaves Virginia at 5:35, when the attack was made. Escaping from his assailants, Clarke ran down Union street to the station, and entered one of the railway offices. There was no outcry made by any one, but in a few minutes a crowd had gathered at the street corner and the excitement was intense. A piece of round, inch-bar iron, about eighteen inches long, had been dropped by one of the assassins, and was passed from hand to hand. No one knew just what had happened, but it was soon learned that Tom Clarke had been attacked by a gang of men and had narrowly escaped with his life. Charley Huff, in attempting to rescue him, had been stabbed in the abdomen with a brad-awl (some said, an ice-pick), but was able to walk away.

THE NATURE OF CLARKE'S INJURIES.

The crowd soon moved down to the station, where the train was ready to pull out. Meantime a doctor had been sent for, and was attending to Clarke's injuries. He had received a blow on the back and side of the head, which had cut one of his ears almost entirely in two. There was no fracture, and the wound, though painful, was not dangerous. After his ear had been sewn up, and his head bandaged, Clarke came out on the platform and entered the smoking car, when the train at once pulled out, in charge of the fireman. Clarke remained composedly in the car, smoking a cigar, until the train reached Gold Hill, when he took charge of the engine, and ran it until the train arrived at Carson, where he remained for the night.

CLARKE'S STATEMENT OF THE AFFAIR.

Interviewed by a GAZETTE reporter on the train, Clarke said that he was taken by surprise when attacked. Five or six men rushed at him as he passed the Sacramento saloon, and one of them struck him with an iron bar a blow on the head that knocked him down and made him almost insensible. Two or three of the men then jumped on him and kicked him. He managed to get on his feet, and breaking away from them, ran down to the station. He thinks the men did not follow him. Two of them had each an iron bar. He saw what appeared to be a large brad-awl in the hands of one. (It was probably with this instrument that Charley Huff was stabbed when he rushed in to help Clarke. Huff is a noted desperado and has served a term in the State's prison.—Rep.) When asked if he knew the men that attacked him, Clarke replied that he recognized only one of them, whom he knew by sight, but not by name, as a member of the Mechanics' Union. Clarke believes his assailants were all Union men, and that the attack was made upon him in consequence of his refusal to accede to the demands of that body.

It will be remembered that the Union gave Clarke notice last August, that he must either leave the road or join their organization. He refused to submit and their threat to kill him caused much excitement at the time. He has ever since remained on the road, saving a few weeks vacation in September.

Tom Clarke is a brother of Gen. R. M. Clarke of Carson.

LAKE VS. LAKE.

Close of the Argument Before the District Court—The Motion for Alimony and Suit Money—Varian's Exposition of the Law—His Estimate of M. C. Lake's Income.

A small attendance at the District Court last Saturday evening indicated that the Reform Club meeting was a greater attraction for the general public than the continuation of the argument in the Lake case.

Varian began by citing numerous authorities in support of the point that in law (as well as in matrimony) conjugal unkindness revives condoned offences, and in an action for divorce raised the right to review the whole married life of the parties. And setting aside the brutal acts of violence alleged to have been committed by the defendant previous to 1877, the language alleged to have been since used by him towards his wife was in itself sufficient cause of action. That language was such as no gentleman would apply to the most degraded of women, and it was language that the most depraved prostitute would resent. Such language revived in law the acts of cruelty that had been forgiven. The complaint alleges that defendant was accustomed to use towards plaintiff the most obscene and abusive language, and had repeatedly charged her with unchastity. The man who could ever so speak to his wife, would be likely to do it again, and the apprehension of such mental anguish as such treatment must occasion, must impair any woman's health, and is sufficient ground for divorce. In the words of a legal authority: "Most women would rather be struck dead at the feet of a husband than receive such an accusation from his lips."

Counsel pointed out that Mrs. Lake was seeking no notoriety in this action. She had not once appeared in the court room. She was in Franktown, nursing her sick children.

WHAT IS CRUELTY IN LAW?

Varian referred to the fact that high English authorities had refused to give any definition of extreme cruelty, owing to the difficulty of legally defining it. He thought the best definition of it was one that he read from Bishop, to the effect that extreme cruelty is such conduct in one of the parties as makes it impossible for the other to properly discharge the various obligations of marriage. In England it has been held that extreme cruelty must consist or result in bodily harm, although Lord Brougham had expressed a dissenting opinion. Under the old English law personal chastisement was, and perhaps is still, allowable. But in the United States, even in severe Massachusets it has been held that where threats of personal violence had been used the wife was unsafe and entitled to a decree. From Butler vs Butler, 1 Parson's, counsel read from a legal decision: "Whatever form ill treatment assumes, if it involves the health it is legal cruelty." He then referred in strong terms to the allegation of the complaint that the defendant had denied the paternity of his child.

CONCERNING ALIMONY.

Varian went on to point out that a distinction must be drawn between the practice in states where permanent alimony is allowed, and in this where no such thing is known. Here, during the course of a suit, the wife is entitled to such alimony as would be sufficient to maintain her in a manner ~~corresponding to her station in life~~, and her husband's means. The plaintiff is entitled to better accommodations than she can get in a seventh-rate boarding house. Defendant's income is ten or twelve thousand dollars a year, and plaintiff is entitled to one-third, one-fourth, or at least one-fifth that sum. He now allows her $100 per month, an allowance which he has testified that he formerly made her as pin-money, to spend at her pleasure. On principles laid down by Bishop, plaintiff has as good, and as much right to the defendant's income as has he himself.

IN REGARD TO COUNSEL FEES.

Varian said that the prosecution of such cases for contingent fees must be condemned by the judicial mind, because to favor or to allow it, would be to encourage suits for divorce, and add to the sum of matrimonial miseries. He said that no such contract would be legally binding, whatever might be the issue of the case. If the suit failed, the husband would not be liable for such a contract made with the wife; nor, in case of success, could the wife be held to its performance. The $5000 prayed for in the complaint, is not asked for in one lump, to be paid down immediately, but is put as a maximum, and is a low estimate of the probable expenses of the suit, in view of the fight that defendant is determined to make. The application is for a reasonable retaining fee, and for suit money. Counsel on both sides are agreed that this will be a leading case in Nevada. Varian then read from a volume of New York Reports, showing that counsel had been allowed a fee of $500 for arguing a case in the Supreme Court on appeal. In a Georgia case, where the husband's estate was valued at $12,000, the same fee had been allowed.

This closed the argument, and Judge King stated that he desired from counsel a minute of the leading authorities to which they wished to refer him. So many had been quoted that, with the press of work on his hands, he could not possibly find time to consult them all. Counsel agreed to hand him such memoranda, and the court adjourned.

TWO MORE SUICIDES.

A Man Blows His Brains out—And a boy Hangs Himself.

The body of Guiseppe Gardella was found yesterday afternoon on the Virginia road, near Pete Dalton's place, this side of Huffaker's. One hand tightly grasped a revolver of which one chamber was empty, and death had evidently been caused by a bullet wound in the head. The deceased was about thirty years old. He had been employed on his brother's ranch in Steamboat valley. Why he killed himself is not known. An inquest was in progress this afternoon at the court house.

A telegram received from Franktown this noon gives the following details of the shocking suicide of a young boy:

Louis Frey, aged 12, son of Joseph Frey, hanged himself this morning with a baling rope. He went on the side of a steep hill, made the rope fast, and then jumped to the end of the slack, breaking his neck instantly. His body was found an hour afterward. The cause was a quarrel with his brother about kindling wood.

A Corpse Among the Commissioners.

The County Commissioners having refused to allow Coroner Jones any office rent, that officer felt compelled to-day to hold the inquest over the body of the Italian in the Commissioners' room in the court house. He was also obliged to have the corpse deposited there, that the jury might with certainty be enabled to determine the cause of death. This proceeding may not be entirely agreeable to the County Commissioners, but it is in the line of strict economy, and they should not complain. The inquest was going forward when the GAZETTE went to press. A Grand Jury committee was in session in the same room.

Personal.

J. L. McFarlin went to Virginia this morning.

A. H. Wilbur passed through last night for San Francisco. He returns to Bodie soon.

J. H. Whited, train dispatcher of Truckee division, went West in a special this morning.

Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Attention!

JEWELRY

$75.00 worth for $15.00,

—(AND A)—

Solid Abyssinian Gold Watch FREE! FREE!! FREE!!!

The above offer is genuine, although at first sight you would consider it impossible. We will explain: Since we first established our business here, March 1st, 1875, we have paid particular attention to the buying of Bankrupt and Auction lots of Jewelry and Watches often buying at as low as one-tenth their value, and in no instance have we paid over one-sixth the manufacturers' price. Since starting we have always been able to dispose of these goods in Chicago and through our regular customers throughout the country at nearly regular prices, as fast as we could procure them; but owing to the large number of failures among the heaviest dealers and manufacturers throughout this and other countries during the months of June, July and August (the time when the jewelry business is stagnant), we have now on hand an immense stock of the most desirable goods we have ever handled, and which we have bought at lower prices than ever before. In order to dispose of this entire stock in the most speedy manner possible, and make room for new ones which we shall continue to buy, we have hit upon the following novel plan:

We propose to give you a list of the most desirable of these goods, giving opposite each article its regular retail value, and sell to you at the rate of Five Dollars' worth for $1. For instance, on receipt of 50 cts. we will send you, POSTPAID, any article to the value of $2 50; on receipt of $1, articles to the value of $5, and so on throughout the entire list. Below we give a list of the most valuable of these goods.

On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and some small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness.
